VICM 300

Battlefield Announcement System

The VICM 300 allows live and pre-recorded audio announcements to be transmitted to individuals outside the vehicle, which means a tactical ability to communicate with civilians up to hundreds of meters from the vehicle while remaining safe inside. The system is based on an Amplifier Module installed inside the vehicle and external loudspeakers, typically placed on a rotating turret or weapon station. This stand-alone system can also be integrated with other communication systems via analogue or digital interfaces.
